

The Great Pub Golf Challenge

Weds 6th August 2003

The rules.

You can't go to the loo on your own. Sorry. That just prevents you from taking the last train to barfsville and nobody knowing about it.

Some pubs will have mandatory drinks or instructions. Yup. That means you've got to do them or you fail. Life is tough sometimes.

Cheating is just to going to piss people off. It's really not big or clever and nobody will be in the slightest bit amused. Your caddies will be watching you.

The caddies fill in your scores and keep hold of your sheets. Best not to trust drunk people with important bits of paper, dontcha think?

Most drinks have a "par". Quaff more times than the par and you'll get a positive score, less and you get a negative one, just like golf. A quaff constitutes the raising of the glass to the mouth with the hand, or pausing mid quaff for breath. No smartarse comments about not putting the glass down, please.

The person with the lowest score for the day is the winner. Glory, a dubious reputation and a weekend at a detox clinic are yours.

You are "out" if:

- You use the toilet telephone and make a long distance call to chunderland.
- You fail to quaff the prescribed tippie.
- Things go grey and the ambulance comes.
- You cheat.
- You aren't at the right pub at the appointed time - we're on a tight schedule, y'know!

The pubs/The drinks.

Where a drink has not been specified, it will either be a category (A) or category (B).

Category (A) - Tiny-tipples.

- i) A standard (125 ml) glass of wine.
- ii) A half-pint of any beer.
- iii) Any standard bottled beer or alcopop.
- iv) Any short (40% Alc. or greater)

Category (B) - Grown-up tipples.

- i) A "generous" (250 ml) glass of wine.
- ii) A pint of beer.
- iii) 2 Bottled beers or 2 alcopops. (Some places are known for their BOGOF offers)
- iv) A double. (40% Alc. or greater)

Anyone who mentions Kaliber will be stoned to death.

You can drink any other drinks you like in addition. The choice is yours.

Any item in bold/italic is the mandatory bit. Fail that and you've lost. Careful now!

1) The Hyde Park - 2:00pm - Any category (A) drink - Par 1

It's the first one of the day. You'll have to down this one in one. Fail to do so and you won't be taking home bullies star prize.

2) The Mannamead - 2:30pm - Any category (A) drink - Par 2.

3) Goodbodys - 3:00pm - A "Mini Cooper" - From the cocktail menu. Par 2.

Should this one not be on the menu, an alternative will be selected....

4) The Fortescue - 3:30pm - Any category (B) drink - Par 4

5) Cafe Sol - 4:00pm - A pint of "Terminator" - Par 4

6) Dog & Duck - 4:30pm - Any category (A) drink - Par 2

7) Hogshead - 5:00pm - Any category (A) drink - Par 2

8) Boomerangs - 5:30pm - Any category (A) drink - Par 2

9) The Junction - 6:00pm - Anything. No par.

Drink anything you like here, alcoholic or otherwise - it's the only breather you're going to get.

It also worth getting something to eat before we leave Mutley and disappear over the hill.

10) Cuba - 6:30pm - Tequila - Par 1.

Yep, you saw that right. Down in one. It's rude not to.

11) Ride - 7:00pm - Any category (A) drink - Par 2

12) Skyving Scholar - 7:30pm - Any category (B) drink - Par 4

13) Bar 38 - 8:00pm - Any category (A) drink - Par 2

14) The Roundabout - 8:30pm - A half of Guinness - Par 3.

15) Jack Cham's (Ebrington Street) - 9:00pm - Jack Cham's Cocktail - Par 3

You buy jugs of it - best to club together with some chums. (If you have any that are still alive)

16) Kitty's - 9:30pm - Slippery Nipple - Par 1.

17) Gog & Magog - 10:00 - Any category (A) drink - Par 2

18) Bar Rhumba - 10:30 - Any category (A) drink - Par 2

Hurrah! You've done it!
